
Overview

This standard is about ensuring that all aspects of the operation of jack up barges comply with legislation, codes of practice and other guidelines, and companies' own operating procedures. The standard covers safety in particular, but also applies to other regulation and procedures.

Target Group

This standard is relevant to bargemasters with overall responsibility for the jack up barge while it is at sea, and in operation.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. establish the safety and suitability of the operational site in compliance with local and national legislation, codes of practice, and company operating procedures
2. transit to and from the operational site in compliance with local and national legislation, codes of practice, and company operating procedures
3. operate jack up barges in compliance with applicable local and national legislation, codes of practice, and company operating procedures
4. complete logs and reports required by local and national legislation, codes of practice, and company operating procedures
5. act within the limits of your authority and competence as defined in company operating procedures.
6. manage risks faced by visitors to the jack up barge in compliance with company procedures

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. the scope and purpose of company operating procedures and your responsibilities to adhere to them
2. the relevant legislation, codes of practice, and company operating procedures for establishing the suitability of the operational site
3. the relevant legislation, codes of practice, and company operating procedures relating to maintaining jack up barge stability
4. your authority to challenge company operating procedures
5. the particular risks faced by visitors to the jack up barge
6. what a health and safety induction for visitors should cover
7. the relevant authorities and their roles relating to the safe and legal operation of the jack up barge
8. the legislation, codes of practice, and company operating procedures applicable to the operation of jack up barges
9. the legislation, codes of practice, and company operating procedures relevant to the safe storage of articles and substances
10. the limits of your authority and competence to make decisions about jacking operations
11. standards and requirements for crew accommodation requirements
12. the roles and responsibilities of people designated under company operating procedures
13. the legislation, codes of practice, and company operating procedures relating to jacking operations
14. the logs and reports required by legislation, codes of practice, and company operating procedures

Developed by	International Jack Up Barge Operators' Association
Version Number	1
Date Approved	March 2017
Indicative Review Date	March 2020
Validity	Current
Status	Original
Originating Organisation	Maritime Skills Alliance
Original URN	MSAE25
Relevant Occupations	Jack up barge master; Jack up barge officer; jack up barge engineer
Suite	Maritime
Keywords	Jack up barges; regulation; safety